FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

THE EXPOSURE PROJECT RELEASE ISSUE 4 OF *THE EXPOSURE PROJECT BOOK

June, 2009 - The Exposure Project is pleased to announce the release of Issue 4 of The Exposure Project Book, slated for distribution in mid-July.

The book is comprised of 45 images from 15 photographers from across the globe. In addition, an essay written by Brian Ulrich will accompany the images. Curated from an open call for entries, Issue 4 of The Exposure Project Book marks the group's largest and most diverse publication to date. Compiling images exploring issues as varied as contemporary landscape politics, the domestic experience, social uniformity and the history of occult photography, while highlighting a multitude of stylistic methods from the more traditional to the more conceptual, Issue 4 underscores the vibrant diversity of contemporary photography.

Photographers include:

Chris Bentley, Rona Chang, Daniel Farnum, Elizabeth Fleming, Lee Gainer, Matthew Genitempo, Inka Lindergård & Niclas Holmström, Natascha Libbert, Bradley Peters, Carlo Van de Roer, Daniel Shea, Manuel Vazquez, Jens Windolf, Susan Worsham and Bahar Yurukoglu

Issue 4 of The Exposure Project Book will be offered in both regular and special editions. The special edition will be limited to 25 copies and will be made up of a hardcover copy of the book and two original artist prints. A softcover edition of 100 books will also be available. Both editions of Issue 4 will be available for purchase online through The Exposure Project website.

Founded in 2005, The Exposure Project is a collective of photographers who aim to provide support, inspiration and community-based collaboration to photographers working on long-term projects. Through the use online media, traditional exhibition and print publication, the collective hopes to broaden the lines of artistic collaboration and accent meaningful contemporary photography. Through the use of these outlets, The Exposure Project ultimately hopes to connect like minded artists and showcase work and ideas pertinent to the medium.
